TO PROBE EXPENSIVE LOBBIES AT CAPITAL

INVESTIGATION OF SHEARER TO BRING UP MORE

CHAIRMAN SHORTRIDGE NOW
SWAMPED WITH INQUIRIES AND TELEGRAMS

FEW FACTS DEVELOPED SINCE
FAMOUS SUGAR LOBBY INVESTIGATION OF YEARS AGO

By PAUL R. MALLON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Sept. 24.—(U.P.)—Recommendations for a senatorial inquiry into the subject of expensive lobbies maintained in Washington by various parties interested in legislation and government policies may be included in the report of the senate committee investigating the Shearer naval case. Swamped with telegrams and letters from many quarters demanding inquiry into everything from tariff lobbyists to the St. Lawrence waterways development, Chairman Shortridge of the Shearer committee indicated today he would suggest a separate investigation by a different committee of the senate to follow up the leads he has received.

Everyone at the capital appears to realize expensive lobbies are maintained on nearly every subject of legislation, but no facts about them have been developed since the famous sugar lobby investigation of a quarter of a century ago. Their activities are unrestricted by any statute and are within the law, although repeated attempts have been unsuccessfully made to investigate or restrict them.

The most recent endeavor along these lines is the Caraway bill, now pending in the senate, to require all lobbyists to register with the clerk of the house, their names, who they represent and how much they are paid. Shortridge is emphatic that the present inquiry, now entering its fourth day, must be confined to the activities at the Geneva disarmament conference of William B. Shearer, naval propagandist who has been described in testimony as a "lobbyist extraordinary."

The committee intends to hear today Homer L. Ferguson, president of the Newport News Shipbuilding and Drydock Corporation, who has said his concern paid $18,000 to Shearer without his knowledge or consent. Other witnesses will include Frederick P. Palen, vice president of the same corporation who made the payments to Shearer; Lawrence R. Wilder, president of the Trans-Oceanic Steamship Service, and Henry Hunter, counsel of the American Shipbuilders Association who, acting for three American shipbuilders, paid more than $25,000 to go to Geneva.

The committee later will call Admiral Hilary Jones, retired, head of the American naval delegation at the 1926 Geneva conference; Admiral Long who assisted Jones; at least one newspaper man now in Washington who attended the conference, and then Shearer.

Despite efforts to hold the investigation to Shearer's activities at Geneva, testimony has shown that American shipbuilders spent about $143,000 to further the Jones-White merchant marine bill and that Shearer was employed in some instances to "report the views of congress and the president on merchant marine matters." An inquiry into this phase of the subject would require months.

UNCERTAIN ABOUT TAX REDUCTION AT DECEMBER SESSION

Washington, Sept. 24.—(U.P.)—Undersecretary of the Treasury Ogden L. Mills told the United Press today that the treasury "has not yet reached a point where it can make a decision on the probability of a tax reduction at the December session of congress."

Emphasizing that it is too early in the fiscal year to predict the state of the treasury next winter, Mills pointed out that recommendations for tax reduction legislation would, in any event, be made by the president.

Mills' statement was prompted by newspaper reports which indicated the treasury was prepared to propose tax reduction legislation in December.

13 YEAR OLD DUCK HUNTER FOUND DEAD

The boy's body was found in a meadow near his home, the neck nearly severed by a shotgun charge. The coroner's verdict said he accidentally shot himself.

LEGGE ANSWERS CRITICISMS OF FARM BOARD

CHAIRMAN OF ORGANIZATION
APPEARS BEFORE SENATE COMMITTEE

LATTER IS DETERMINING QUALIFICATIONS OF BOARD MEMBERS

Washington, Sept. 24.—(U.P.)—Alexander P. Legge of Chicago, chairman of the federal farm board appointed by President Hoover to carry out the administration agriculture relief program, answered the board's critics today at the senate agriculture committee's first hearing to determine the qualifications of board members.

Asked by Senator Caraway, democrat, Arkansas, one of the committee members who has frequently criticized the board for what he considers unnecessary delay in its operations, why the board has not made great use of the funds at its disposal, Legge replied with some heat that the body could not be expected to finance a $15,000,000 crop with a $150,000 appropriation.

In reply to the usual preliminary questions, Legge told the committee of his former connection with the International Harvester Company which he left to accept the chairmanship of the federal board. Although a small shareholder in the company, Legge said he had severed all other connections. He also owns some government securities and a small block of General Motors stock, he said.

Legge said the board's loans to date aggregate $35,000,000 and $40,000,000, of which only a small portion has been obtained by the borrowers. No money has been loaned except to cooperative associations, he added.

The former International Harvester Company head frequently became irritated as members of the committee deluged him with questions concerning the board's practices and plans. "For heaven's sake, give us a little time," he retorted to one of Senator Wheeler's questions. "We've only had two months. We are doing the best we can with what we have."

Senator Caraway tried to develop that Legge had opposed all farm relief bills that have been introduced, including the present. The farm board head denied this. He said he approved of many of the provisions of the present act and considered it the best that could be devised.

Senator Brookhart asked why the board had made no move to organize a stabilization corporation, co-operative associations, or advisory commodity councils for wheat, when the act specifically provides for such aid. Legge said that all of this will be done "as soon as we can get a set-up where there is reasonable hope of succeeding."

Wheeler asked the farm board chief to explain the disparity prevailing between wheat prices in Canada and this country, while Senator Smith, democrat, South Carolina, wanted to know why cotton has declined in price in a year when consumption is at its peak and a crop shortage imminent.

The difference in wheat prices, which he estimated at about 20 cents a bushel, has been due in part to transportation charges, Legge said. The cotton decline he attributed to a slack export demand and tight money conditions.

5,000 Gallon Crude Oil Tank Explodes at Railway Shops in Memphis, Many Injured

4 BUILDINGS ARE DAMAGED BY HEAVY BLAST

AMBULANCES AND FIRE COMPANIES ANSWER CALL OF ILLINOIS CENTRAL

FIRST VICTIM TAKEN FROM THE SHAMBLES IN CRITICAL CONDITION

Memphis, Tenn., Sept. 24.—(U.P.)—Explosion of a 5,000-gallon crude oil tank occurred at the Illinois Central railroad shops at noon today.

Ambulances and fire companies were called. First reports were that many injured had been removed from the wreckage.

Four buildings were damaged by the blast. The first victim taken from the shambles was in critical condition.

At 1:15 P. M. firemen reported they were still searching the ruins but that apparently all victims had been removed. With one exception, all those trapped suffered but minor injuries. More than 200 men were in the shops at the time, but no reports of fatalities had come from the scene an hour after. First aid treatment for cuts and bruises, as well as burns, was given scores.

Burning oil from the tank, which was filled to its 5,000-gallon capacity, drenched surrounding buildings, but firemen succeeded in preventing the spread of the flames.

Windows in a three-block radius were broken by the explosion. In the heart of the business district, two miles away, the shock was felt.

Memphis, Tenn., Sept. 24.—Two hours after an explosion of a huge crude oil tank damaged the Illinois Central railroad shops and jarred the entire city today, firemen and hospitals reported that the 200 shop employees had in all but one instance escaped without serious injuries. Cuts and bruises were suffered by several scores, but only G. Gordon, an electrician, was seriously injured when trapped in the debris.

38 ORE CARS WRECKED ON G.N. SAUNDERS SPUR

Superior, Wis., Sept. 24.—(U.P.)—Traffic was resumed today on the Great Northern spur line to Saunders, near here, after one of the most disastrous derailment accidents in the history of northern Wisconsin blocked the line for 26 hours.

More than half a mile of new track was laid to provide a route around the wreckage of 38 ore cars. Although no reason for the derailment was announced, it was believed defective trackage may have been the cause. No one was injured.

'LAND OF SOVIETS' AWAITS ADVENT OF GOOD WEATHER

Bremerton, Wash., Sept. 24.—(U.P.)—Belief that the Russian plane, "Land of the Soviets," en route from Siberia to the United States, still is awaiting favorable weather reports before taking off from Attu, Aleutian Islands, for Dutch Harbor, Unalaska, was expressed by officials of the navy yard here today.

Since the plane landed at Attu Saturday, the naval radio station here has not been in communication with the islands, it was said.

REFUGEES, WEARY AND ILL, FLEEING MUDDY WATERS

ESCAPE RAGING RIO GRANDE FLOOD NEAR SAN MARCIAL, N. M.

COMMUNICATION WITH STRICKEN AREA HAS BEEN TOTALLY DISRUPTED

El Paso, Texas, Sept. 24.—(U.P.)—Refugees, weary and ill from fleeing before the muddy waters of the raging Rio Grande, struggled into El Paso early today from the flood locked town of San Marcial, N. M., 100 miles south of Albuquerque.

Communication with the stricken area has been almost totally disrupted but meager reports reaching here told how the Rio Grande, already at a seasonal high level, was forced from its banks to spread destruction when a two-inch rain fell in the Albuquerque district.

A woman was drowned and it was feared there had been other casualties.

GENE TUNNEY REPLIES TO SUITS TOTALLING MILLION

Stamford, Conn., Sept. 24.—(U.P.)—Gene Tunney has replied to suits totalling $1,000,000 against him by filing a counter claim for $100,000, charging blackmail.

The suit is against John S. Fogarty of Fort Worth, Tex., who is accused of conspiring with Katherine King Fogarty, his former wife, and "divers other persons" to "defraud, blackmail and defame the character" of the former heavyweight champion.

Fogarty has sued Tunney for $500,000, charging alienation of affections, and Mrs. Fogarty has asked $500,000 from the retired boxer in a breach of promise suit.

Tunney and Polly Lauder Tunney still are in Italy on their honeymoon.

ARCTIC WASTES STILL RETAIN THEIR MYSTERY

FATE OF THE EXPLORERS AND GEOLOGISTS IS STILL UNSOLVED

TWO AIRPLANES AT STONEY RAPIDS, SASK., DO NOT BELONG TO PARTY

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 24.—(U.P.)—Hopes that the Arctic wastes had relinquished their grip on Col. C. D. McAlpine and his party of four geologists and explorers were dashed again today when it was learned that two airplanes which arrived at Stoney Rapids, Sask., on the Athabasca river, yesterday, were not those of the missing men.

Fragmentary reports revealed the original McAlpine party was to have been augmented by two other planes under command of Col. J. K. Cornwell and it was virtually certain these were the ships reported at Stoney Rapids.

Meantime, planes manned by men famed throughout the north for flying ability, were standing ready today to hop off in search of the missing men as soon as definite word could be received from scouts in the barren lands.

Low visibility prevented planes leaving Winnipeg today, but failure of definite word in the next 48 hours should see the greatest aerial hunt in the northwest's history in progress.

McAlpine's party in two airplanes have not been heard from since they left Corporation Gulf on the Arctic Ocean two weeks ago, for Athabasca, Alberta. The five men had been engaged in exploring uncharted sections of the Hudson's Bay country and searching for rich copper deposits said to be located in that region.

Their craft were equipped with pontoons only and due to the fact that northern lakes already are frozen over, it was feared they had met disaster in landing. Even should they have escaped from the wrecked planes alive, it was feared they soon would succumb to hunger and cold.

CREW OF BRITISH STEAMER RESCUED

Melbourne, Australia, Sept. 24.—(U.P.)—The crew of the British steamer Siltonhall, which caught fire in the vast stretches of the Indian ocean, 1,500 miles from Australia, has been rescued by the British steamer Anthea, the latter reported by wireless today.

The rescue added a thrilling chapter to the history of wireless in saving life at sea. The Siltonhall, bound for Adelaide, caught fire on Saturday. She was rescued by the Anthea, which was 390 miles to the northwest.

The Siltonhall is a steamer of 6,000 tons owned by the West Hartlepool Steam Navigation Co. of England.

MOSCOW RAILWAY TRAIN DERAILED; 30 PERSONS KILLED

Moscow, Sept. 24.—(U.P.)—Thirty persons were killed and forty others injured when a railway train from Moscow jumped the rails and was wrecked at the station of Zuevka, near Sverdlovsk, today. The cause of the derailment was not known.

YOUNG COOLIDGE PAIR MOTOR AWAY ON HONEYMOON

TAKE TWO-WEEK JAUNT IN RED SPORT ROADSTER OF THE BRIDE

ITINERARY OF THEIR TRIP TO MAINE WOODS IS CLOSELY GUARDED

By BOYD LEWIS
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Plainville, Conn., Sept. 24.—Mr. and Mrs. John Coolidge motored northward today to a honeymoon lodge in the Maine woods.

Florence Trumbull Coolidge's red sports roadster left Plainville last night on a two-week jaunt, most of which will be spent at the summer home of Governor John H. Trumbull, two miles from a telephone where the young couple will surround their honeymoon with secrecy.

The secrecy already has started, for the itinerary of their trip to Maine was guarded carefully at the reception that followed the wedding yesterday.

What started out to be "just a quiet little home wedding" developed into a state celebration. When the bell in steeples here tolled 4 o'clock more than 2,000 persons, most of them uninvited, surged against the line of state policemen, attempting to get a glimpse of the bridal party at the First Congregational church and at the Trumbull mansion.

They saw the bride in a patou gown of ivory satin, relieved by a long string of pearls, with black-lines panels. The veil was caught up under a cap of duchess lace.

Young Coolidge was in afternoon dress, his hair plastered and a lily at his buttonhole. Calvin Coolidge, who came down with Mrs. Coolidge just before the wedding and left soon after the reception, also was in afternoon dress. The former president made the concession of wearing a gardenia for the bride, although Mrs. Coolidge warned Florence he would get rid of it at the earliest opportunity.

Coolidge "did not choose" to reveal what his wedding gift was and from those who gained admittance to the reception it was learned the former president had discovered a microphone hidden beneath the rug, with which a talking motion picture concern had hoped to record the event. The microphone was removed.

Traffic extended almost solidly for a mile south of the Trumbull home.

Events moved smoothly in the church. Florence smiled as she entered on her father's arm and threw frequent glances at her mother who was seated in one of the front pews. John also glanced at his parents, who were seated beside the Trumbulls, but apparently was too nervous to muster a smile.

The single ring service was used; the wedding ring with its 13 diamonds slipped on the bride's finger without balking; John and Florence delivered their vows in firm, even tones.

At the reception the bride and bridegroom stood in the receiving line with their parents. Florence kissed friends frequently; John shook hands and smiled in public for the first time in three days; Calvin Coolidge employed the jerky, muscle-saving hand shake he perfected in the White House.

Young Coolidge must be back in New Haven in two weeks to resume his job in the New Haven railroad offices. Meanwhile he will eat food cooked by his wife on an oil stove at the Moosehead Lake lodge.

Plainville, Conn., Sept. 24.—Calvin Coolidge's wedding present to John and Florence was a check, Mrs. John H. Trumbull, mother of the bride, told the United Press today.

"It was a check—a substantial amount—but I cannot say how much," the governor's wife said.

She denied reports the former president had presented the newlyweds with a $50,000 trust fund. She indicated the check was for an amount in four figures.

Paris, Sept. 24.—(U.P.)—Dieudonne Coste, French flier, arrived at Le Bourget field today from Villa Coublay, where he has been awaiting a favorable opportunity for a long distance flight.

Coste said he hoped to start his flight Thursday morning, and that his destination would be Tokio.

VILLAGE GUARD IS SHOT DOWN BY ATTACKERS

TELEPHONE LINES ARE SEVERED AT THE VILLAGE IN JEZREEL VALLEY

A POLICE GUARD SENT FROM AFUEIEH SAVES CHILDREN, ROUTS INVADERS

Jerusalem, Sept. 24.—(U.P.)—A Jewish children's village in Jezreel valley supported by American philanthropic organizations was attacked by Arabs at 8 P. M. Monday. Shalom Elshah, a village guard, was shot to death. The telephone lines were severed. Police sent from Afueieh saved the village and routed the attackers.

The village raided is known as Kfar Yeladin. It is near Afule and is occupied by about 200 children whose parents were killed by Russian pogroms in the Ukraine in 1921.

The children do all the work in the village even to building their houses and plowing the fields. The World Zionist organization supports the village.

Jezreel is an ancient town of Palestine on the plain of Jezreel (Esdras) 53 miles north of Jerusalem.

WILLIAM A. PAINE, FINANCIER, DIES

St. Paul, Sept. 24.—(U.P.)—William A. Paine, president of Paine, Webber & Co., died early today at his home in Boston, according to reports reaching here. He was 74 years old. USES PAJAMAS AS ROPE AND HANGS HIMSELF

Kalamazoo, Mich., Sept. 24.—(U.P.)—Using his pajamas as a rope, Eugene Burgess, "evil eye" slayer, hanged himself in his cell in the Kalamazoo county jail today.

Burgess and his wife, Pearl, were to go on trial next Monday charged with the murder of Mrs. Etta L. Fairchild, aged minister's widow. Mrs. Fairchild was clubbed to death while a dinner guest at the Burgess home, July 18.

The Burgess believed the elderly woman had "hexed" their daughter, Eugene, 17, and had killed others through her strange mental process.

CHARGED WITH SLAYING THREE YEAR OLD BOY

Madison, Wis., Sept. 24.—(U.P.)—First degree murder warrants were served today upon Lorenzo Sylvato, arrested in Rockford, Ill., and Charles Guidara, in custody here, charging them with having shot and killed Frank Gelosi, 3 years old, as he sat in the lap of his father, Joe, a convicted bootlegger.

The two were arrested upon information given by Joe Gelosi, who is in a hospital here suffering from a wound received from the shotgun charge which killed his son.

Police believed the shooting was the result of one of the sporadic liquor feuds which are in "the Bush," Madison's Italian section.

Lindberghs Are Now Resting at Paramaribo

Paramaribo, Dutch Guiana, Sept. 24.—(U.P.)—Pioneering of the new aerial route from Miami to Paramaribo added to his accomplishments, Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh rested here today before starting on his northward flight through the Caribbean Islands back to his starting point.

The 2,600-mile journey from Miami was completed at 4:26 p. m. eastern standard time yesterday to the accompaniment of ship and factory whistles in the harbor here. Lindbergh was accorded the most enthusiastic welcome he has received since he sat out to blaze a new trail from the United States to the South American continent.

Mrs. Lindbergh, who accompanied the pilot on his trip, was the center of interest.

Nothing has been produced to touch its value and price advantage. It is still the master car in performance and reliability.

And Hudson still is alone in offering the almost individual distinction of such wide color choices, at no extra cost. See and examine the new offerings of other makers by all means. Then come, compare and drive the Greater Hudson. AT DEEP-ROCK STATIONS

Extra-Extraordinary Gasoline...

No extra cost for double-premium-quality!

All the known anti-knock features of the famous aviation quality super-power KANT-NOCK premium gasoline... plus the benefits of Ethyl!

Yet this double duty, double premium quality fuel costs no more than ordinary Ethyl gasolines!

KANT-NOCK-ETHYL is actually the finest gasoline that money can buy for your car or truck; and here's why...

Every drop vaporizes... cannot be carried into the crank-case to dilute your oil. Thus, by minimizing crank-case dilution, KANT-NOCK-ETHYL gasoline contributes to the Positive Lubrication as well as the Positive Power of your motor.

Such power, too... it feels like "extra cylinders under the hood"! Pep, pick-up, response to the slightest pressure of the throttle, in traffic, on hills, eating up the miles!

And speaking of mileage... that's always been a KANT-NOCK feature. Now, with Ethyl added, you can be sure of a cooler motor, less shifting of gears, smoother and faster going.

Stop at any DEEP-ROCK station where Superior Service includes both the finest 100% pure paraffin oils and KANT-NOCK-ETHYL, the Extra-extraordinary Gasoline!

BRAINERD HIGH SCHOOL, TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 24, 1929

JOHN LOWEY, FORMERLY OF B. H. S., TO ATTEND STEVENS INSTITUTE

AWARDED SCHOLARSHIP AS RESULT OF SHOWING IN EDISON CONTEST

Brainerdites were delighted upon seeing the announcement in the Dispatch a few days ago that John Lowey, Minnesota's entrant in the nation-wide Edison contest, had been offered a scholarship in the Stevens Institute of Technology at Hoboken, New Jersey.

The announcement of this added honor tops the list of his recent achievements in the scientific field. Since that first telegram which stated that he had won the state contest and summoned him to West Orange, events have occurred in rapid succession through the whole of his exciting vacation until autumn came to call him away to a greater field with added laurels in this wonderful school of the east.

His two weeks at East Orange were described by him as the most interesting and educational of any he has so far experienced. Expenses throughout the trip were all taken care of by Mr. Edison and the boys were not allowed to spend a cent of their own money during the whole of their stay with him.

Upon arriving at East Orange on Monday, July 29th, John, with a number of the other boys who came at the same time, was escorted to the Edison estate. The contestants saw very little of the great inventor during their eventful visit. He was described, however, as a quiet man, pleasant in manner though firm in his decisions.

Examinations Each Morning

The boy scientists were obliged to write a short examination each morning preliminary to the famous final exam held on Thursday morning. The remainder of their time was spent in tours of the Edison plant and laboratory and in expeditions to New York where many of their boyish desires were granted. These trips promised relief from the strain of the difficult examinations. Pleasure excursions to Coney Island to say nothing of baseball games and movies in one of America's most beautiful theaters were all only a part of the program staged for their benefit on this wonderful trip.

The widely discussed examination, given the boys Thursday morning was one worthy of their efforts and although it taxed their brain to the limit, John considered it as fair and practical as an examination of this type could possibly be.

The exercises which took place at Edison's factory and which were broadcast throughout the country, will always be remembered by the boys as one of the most thrilling moments of their lives. They personally met such famous men as Edison, Lindbergh, Ford and Eastman, who heartily congratulated them on their achievements and extended best wishes.

Boys Receive Gifts

A beautiful Editor, combination radio and Victrola tops the list of gifts which the boys received. Each of their mothers was presented with an electric toaster of the latest type for their part in the contest. Before leaving East Orange, the boys framed what is known as the "49 Club" with the winner, Wilbur Houston, as president. The purpose of this club is to keep alive the memories of this eventful occasion through correspondence with one another, that lessons learned and benefits derived may never be forgotten in their endeavors for success and fame.

SHAKESPEARIAN THEMES WRITTEN BY FRESHMEN

Projects have already been assigned in Miss Oertling's English I classes. Themes concerning Shakespeare's time are expected from students who will not be required to write a term paper if their work in this connection is satisfactory.

Miss Oertling has expressed herself as being especially pleased with the themes already written by enterprising Freshmen. "The majority of the papers so far have been exceptionally good," she said. "I think that the Freshmen deserve to be complimented."

SENIORS TO CONSIDER RINGS AT FIRST MEET

1929-30 begins auspiciously for the Seniors. They have on hand the magnificent sum of $75, an amount of which the class may be proud. It will take much time and effort to obtain the necessary class expenses for the year, however; in spite of the presence of this fund left from last year.

Next Tuesday afternoon the first organized meeting of the class at which Clarence Holden will preside. One of the most important items will be the consideration of the Senior ring. All members of the class are requested to be present.

The usual fall rally of the Juniors and Seniors will take place soon in the form of a picnic. The Seniors will also discuss this contemplated project at the next meeting and will inform the Juniors the time, place and manner of the rally.

Junior Hi-Y Members Decide on Service Pin

Junior Hi-Y boys will be provided with a service pin and will receive all the benefits of the organization upon payment of $1 per year dues. Such was the decision reached at the regular meeting held at the Y. M. C. A. last Thursday evening.

Twenty-two members were present to hear Rolf Melby, the new adviser, talk on the prospects of the club for the coming year. Plans are not yet perfected and therefore are not ready for publication.

Drexel Geist, John Folsom, Parker Campbell and Dwight Curo were appointed members of a committee to serve supper at the next meeting.

SONGS AND YELLS PRINTED FOR USE OF NEW STUDENTS

STUDENTS URGED TO SUPPORT TEAM BY ATTENDING ALL GAMES

Brainerd's football team is scheduled for some hard playing next Friday here against Wadena. Good playing spells victory and good singing and yelling is necessary for good playing.

For the benefit of those who plan to attend the game and who are not acquainted with Brainerd's songs the following are printed and Freshmen especially are urged to learn them as quickly as possible:

Go, Brainerd High School,
Break right through that line,
With your colors flying,
We will cheer you all the time.

Rah! Rah! Rah!
Go, Brainerd High School,
Fight on for our fame;
Fight for the fame
Of our dear name,
Go, Brainerd, win that game!

What's the matter with Brainerd?
She's all right!
What's the matter with Brainerd?
See her fight!
She's got the pep and she's got the team—
All she needs is a little steam.
What's the matter with Brainerd?
She's all right!

Cheer, boys, cheer, for Brainerd's got the ball,
Cheer, boys, cheer, for Brainerd's got the ball,
And when she throws that ball
There'll be another score,
There'll be a hot time in the old town tonight.

Come on Blue, come on White,
Come on, Brainerd, let's fight!

If they're winning all the while,
That's Brainerd High!
If they're losing with a smile,
That's Brainerd High!
If they play with a wonderful knack,
If they have what other teams lack,
Good reputation, the best in the nation
That's Brainerd High!

I yi ti ki!
Ki yi yip!
Beat 'em, Beat 'em!
Rip! Rip! Rip!
Kana, Kenna,
Wah! Wah!
Kana, Kenna,
Tah!

Rah! Rah! Rah!

LOST AND FOUND DEPT. BECOMES PROMINENT

The Lost and Found department of the Brainerd high school has become one of the most prominent departments of the school. It proves to be the only hope of salvation for poor, helpless freshmen, on the sophisticated sophomores. Even the lofty Juniors find comfort in that little box of precious articles held so tenderly by Miss Tornstrom, while the mighty Seniors occasionally discover a wandering compact, on a prized watch safely concealed within its humble pasteboard walls. All such dreams come true only as a result of the thoughtfulness of some honest, pure-hearted person who finds himself willing to forsake and forget that lovely thought about "finders keepers, losers weepers."

Could any of the recent absences be the result of a lost comb, a travelling fountain pen, or a wandering pencil? We feel the gratitude of that poor boy who has stolen his father's car, lost the key, and to his heart's delight, has found it in "that priceless box."

Sidelights on the Game

Hallett Clarkson started a snake dance at the half and it was just as big or bigger than the one Staples had. Three cheers for Hallett!
We noticed David Weber sitting on a box over in the corner after the snake dance. It must have been too hard on "Dave."
Koering's car surely helped to cheer and was it packed—"Et Quam."

BRAINERD TIES STAPLES, 0-0, IN FIRST GRIDIRON CONTEST

ALUMNI

Milford Downie, editor of the Brainerdian for several years and at present a student of the journalistic course at the U. of M., talked to the members of the Brainerdian staff and the underwriters at the Staples field.

Wine Barnes, 1928 graduate, is operating a lunch counter on Hennepin Avenue, Minneapolis.

Helen Bane left Sunday to begin her Freshman year at the U. of M. Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Geist visited with their son, Donald, in Rochester, where he is taking an aeronautical course.

Frankie Wise and Walter Hautala, former football and basketball stars, were among Brainerd's rooters at the Staples game, Friday.

John Ellison will return to the U. of M., where he is a Sophomore.

Levi Folsom will return to the U. of M. this week to resume his studies as a Sophomore.

John Fisher left Monday for the University of Minnesota, where he will enter as a law student.

MODERN HIGH SCHOOL NEARING COMPLETION

Out of the ruins of the old Washington high school of Brainerd, has arisen an edifice which promises to be one of the finest and most modern buildings devoted to secondary education in the state. The aesthetic has not been neglected for the useful in the erection of this building. It is a delight to the eye of the artist as well as to the practical school man for much thought has been expended to make it distinctive.

A thorough fire-proof building with windows of an accepted modern type, it has three floors, the first of which is devoted to offices, a large auditorium, class room, and a gymnasium to complete in every detail. On the second floor, the library, study hall and more class rooms will soon be ready for use. One of the boasts of the architects and builders is that the commercial department on the second floor will be the best equipped in the building.

A botanical garden on the third floor will be one of the show places while the cafeteria and the domestic science rooms in the basement will provide food for the hungry.
Rumors as to the date when the new high school will be ready for occupancy are varied. November 15 seems to be the earliest date thus far mentioned but it is probable that January 1 may be nearer the actual time when all will be in readiness for a second semester of high school life in 1930.

ROSE GUDMUNSEN LEADS COMMERCIAL STUDENTS

Rose Gudmunsen was chosen by the Commercial club to lead them through a very active year which was planned at their first meeting, held last Wednesday.

The other officers chosen to assist her are:

Vice President—Louise Clausen.
Secretary—Ardelle Persson.
Treasurer—Marie Hoffbauer.
Plans were made to have a picnic on the famous old grounds at Gilbert Lake on Sept. 25.

Combinations from the floor resulted in the election of Rose Gudmunsen as chairman of the picnic committee with Margaret Vadnais, Marie Hoffbauer, Arlene Hagberg, Jean Cass, Isabelle McPherson, Nellie Paine, Edman Jernberg, Hattie Zawadzki, and Edith Frost to assist her in matters pertaining to lunch, entertainment and transportation.

Food will be obtained by having each member contribute a quarter rather than the usual soliciting.

The Commercial club regret to lose one of their former advisers, Miss Erstad. Her place is taken by Miss Torgerson, a new teacher in the Commercial department, who already has made herself a favorite of many of the members.

CANDIDATES CHOSEN FOR SOPH. ELECTION

Immediately after school Thursday in Miss Graham's the supervisor's room, the nominating committee of the Sophomore class met. Those present were Elaine Cook, Marjorie Forsberg, James Falconer, Marie Thoe and Allan McKay.

With the aid of Miss Graham, they chose the following list as candidates for the coming year:

For president and vice president—Bernice Steinfeldt, Drexel Geist and Bernard Lind.

For secretary—Parker Campbell, Anna Cass, Virginia Cook and Jean Cibuzar.

For treasurer—Harriet Halvorson, Florence Tollefson, Esther Kukkola and Marguerite Lind.

For advisers—Miss Spencer, Miss Farrankop, Mr. Penrose, and Mr. Melby.

The regular election of officers will be held some time this week.

THE LIGHTER BRAINERD TEAM PLAYS STRONG DEFENSIVE GAME

Playing largely a defensive game, the Blue and White of Brainerd High School held the Staples eleven to a 0-0 tie in the first clash of the season Friday, at the Staples field.

It was a colorful opening for Brainerd, with the sidelines crowded and students cheering wildly for something that never came—a touchdown!

From the result of the game Friday, it appears certain that Brainerd's aggression must be considerably improved in both defensive and offensive before encountering Wadena here Friday.

The aerial attack is certain to need polishing, along with getting off quick punts; also the right forward wall must be strengthened.

Although Staples had a heavier lineup, Brainerd held grimly, even when the opposing team approached the one-foot line.

Leading conditions were up to par except for a wind which swept over the field making punting and passing hazardous. The field itself was well marked and wired off. It was as level as can be expected, for it is used as a baseball diamond during the summer.

Thus it remains to be seen whether Brainerd will conquer the next foe, Wadena, but it is certain that a new team, benefited by the experience of the Staples game, will make its bow to homecoming fans this week-end.

Coach Kasch stated today that Brainerd and Staples met too early in the season to gather much from the outcome. Brainerd's outstanding work was on the defense, with Foster veteran linemen, in the stellar role. The backfield found occasional openings and at times appeared flashy but this department will need more attention. The kicking was not up to par and the team on the whole needs more aggressiveness to win the remaining games, according to Mr. Kasch.

Former Editor Speaks at Brainonian Meeting

A modest, retiring, but intelligent looking individual sat quietly in a corner during the regular Brainonian meeting last Wednesday night. The adviser, after exhorting budding journalists to mind their p's and q's, noticed the lad's bright and shining face and without further ado, asked "Who's that boy? I've never had him before!" When the hysterical laughter had subsided, "that boy" proved to be none other than Milford Downie, Jr., editor-in-chief of the Brainonian two years ago.

Milford obligingly talked to the staff members in spite of the faux pas of which the adviser had been guilty. "My work on the University Daily is much different from my previous Brainonian experience," said Milford. "I write heads for articles which go to print at 11 or 12 o'clock at night. But I do feel that my Brainonian work was invaluable and I urge those of you who like reporting to go into it heartily."

The speaker obligingly answered the questions of the reporters and the adviser and made it clear that there can be no loafing in classes at the "U," whether one is on the Daily staff or not. Milford's talk was a source of encouragement to Brainonian aspirants who see in him "the boy who has made good."

Ross Olmsted Elected Head of French Club

Ross Olmsted, a much honored Senior, was selected as president of the French club in an election held during French classes last week in Miss Taylor's room. Other officers include Alice Lind, vice president, Betty Robertson, secretary, and Evelyn Grimstead, treasurer. The French students feel that with these classmates as leaders, this is certainly to be a most successful year.

Their program is to begin with an entertainment to be held in the near future. All the new members are to be initiated into the club with all possible ceremony. All the committees to be appointed by the president, will be announced in next week's Brainonian.

Gerald Cass Re-elected President of Junior Class

Gerald Cass, president of the class of 1931 for two preceding years was again elected president of his class, Tuesday, September 17, at the regular Junior election held in the city hall.

Others to assist him are: Vice President—Alice Nolan. Secretary—Mary Hawkins. Treasurer—Arlene Hagberg.

The Junior class feels very fortunate in having as their advisers, Miss Olson and Miss O'Brien, whose qualifications for such positions are above the average. Cooperation with these two advisers will insure a successful year for the Juniors.

Famous "Simba" Film to be Shown at Lyceum

"Simba," the motion picture which records the experiences of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson, the famous explorers, during four years in the jungles of Africa, has its premiere at the Lyceum Wednesday. It is reputed in other cities where it has shown to be the biggest game hunting film ever made and, to judge from the samples of scenes from the picture, these claims are justified.

Jazz-mad youth in search of thrills is the theme of "Girls Gone Wild," now playing at the Lyceum theatre.

It serves as a vehicle for the debut of Sue Carol and Nick Stuart as a co-featured "team" and launches them on a career. The story is highly interesting and is crowded with action from start to finish.

The Twentieth Century MOLOCH

Moloch was a fire god. Ages ago parents cast their children into his lap—hoping thus to gain the favor of this deity.

Inhuman! Ghastly! But no more so than today's mad sacrifice to fire—that carries not even the hope of reward the pagans had. About half a billion dollars a year direct loss; a yearly toll of more than 10,000 lives to make the record gruesome. The Presidential proclamation preceding is sufficient evidence of the seriousness of the country's avoidable fire waste.

The solution to this problem is a community matter. More than six hundred cities and towns have committees on fire prevention and control. These function effectively all year.

Stimulated by the President's proclamation, thousands of communities, through civic bodies, business organizations, schools and other means, observe Fire Prevention Week.

In support of such movements the Stock Fire Insurance companies, through the National Board of Fire Underwriters and affiliated organizations, have long maintained staffs of engineers and experts in fire prevention. These facilities are offered free to any community, that the spirit of Fire Prevention Week may be further promoted year by year.

Public co-operation with the Stock Fire Insurance companies has already effected a reduction in the annual fire waste, and continuous reductions in the cost of fire insurance for practically twenty years.

To Study Child Welfare

AN under-nourished child, with appetite whims, who has a dislike for milk and vegetables, will not only have a poorly developed physique, but his personality may reflect his bad eating habits.

A child whose family standards are low, will in all probability, reflect his lack of home guidance in his character.

These are just two of the many influences which affect the development of character or personality in the growing child which will be considered at the Northwest Conference for Child Health and Parent Education, to be conducted in Minneapolis, on October 2 and 3, as part of a great national public health congress which meets September 30 to October 5 in the Minneapolis auditorium. Ten national and state organizations, dedicated to the promotion of health and the prevention of disease and accidents, including The American Public Health Association, The American Child Health Association and The American Society of School Physicians, will assemble.

A program, unexcelled in the history of the Northwest Conference, has been arranged under the direction of Dr. John E. Anderson, head of the Institute of Child Welfare at the University of Minnesota. Educators and authorities in child psychology, of national reputation, are scheduled to address the Conference.

EDITORS and publishers of northwestern Minnesota will gather at Red Lake Falls October 11 for a group meeting. Expected to attend the meeting are L. A. Rossman, state president, Grand Rapids; H. Z. Mitchell of Bemidji, past president; Frank C. Cramer of the St. Paul Farmer, and Secretary Sam S. Haislet, secretary of the Minnesota Editorial association.

AFTER 77 years, New Haven citizens have decided to erect a memorial to Eli Whitney Blake, who invented the first automatic stone crusher. It is said that in the first 20 years after the invention of the machine, savings of $50,000,000 were realized and in the following three decades the saving amounted to over $166,680,000.

SPRINGFIELD has its sauerkraut day, a notable celebration observed annually since 11 years ago. Brainerd has its lutefisk and sauerkraut suppers. But Montgomery stirs one's pulses with visions of a kolacky day, to be held October 1. We do not know what it is, but experts say it is a Bohemian delicacy.

A WOMAN's hair is her crowning glory and Mrs. Mary Sunko of Akron, Ohio, thinks so much of her hair that she has filed a $25,000 suit against M. Trubach, whom she charges with pulling a handful from her head.

ON Saturday the St. Cloud Tech football team ran wild at the Granite City and defeated the Elk River team 52 to 0.

ALTHOUGH a woman is supposed to know everything by intuition, nevertheless she asks a lot of questions.

The Old Sock is out of Date!

AN ANCIENT PREJUDICE HAS BEEN REMOVED

That ancient prejudice which hoarded gold with the fanatical zeal of the miser has vanished. Under the sheltering wing of AMERICAN INTELLIGENCE flourish thousands of banking institutions to which the individual safely entrusts his wealth.

"toasting did it"—

Gone is that ancient prejudice against cigarettes—Progress has been made. We removed the prejudice against cigarettes when we removed harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from the tobaccos.

YEARS ago, when cigarettes were made without the aid of modern science, there originated that ancient prejudice against all cigarettes. That criticism is no longer justified. LUCKY STRIKE, the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the choicest tobacco, properly aged and skillfully blended—"It's Toasted."

"TOASTING," the most modern step in cigarette manufacture, removes from LUCKY STRIKE harmful irritants which are present in cigarettes manufactured in the old-fashioned way.

Everyone knows that heat purifies, and so "TOASTING"—LUCKY STRIKE'S extra secret process—removes harmful, corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from LUCKIES which in the old-fashioned manufacture of cigarettes cause throat irritation and coughing. Thus "TOASTING" has destroyed that ancient prejudice against cigarette smoking by men and by women.

"It's toasted"

No Throat Irritation—No Cough.

"It's Toasted"—the phrase that describes the extra "toasting" process applied in the manufacture of Lucky Strike Cigarettes. The finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—are scientifically subjected to penetrating heat at minimum, 260°—maximum, 300°, Fahrenheit. The exact, expert regulation of such high temperatures removes impurities. More than a slogan, "It's Toasted" is recognized by millions as the most modern step in cigarette manufacture.

PHIL SCOTT GAINS 10 ROUND DECISION OVER CAMPOLO

BIG, GAWKY
ARGENTINE LOOKS LIKE MERE NOVICE

SCOTT PROVES CAMPOLO IS ONLY RUGGED YOUNGSTER NEEDING MORE TRAINING

BRITISHER'S EXPERIENCE AND SUPERB DEFENSE WIN
FOR HIM

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
New York, Sept. 24.—Victorio Campolo is going back to the Argentine and Phil Scott of England is going to hang around a while longer to annoy the American heavyweights.

The big, gawky Argentine who looked like a potential champion when he knocked out Tom Heeney a few weeks ago, looked like a novice against Phil Scott last night at Ebbets Field and lost a ten-round decision. Scott weighed 215 1-4, Campolo 223 3-4.

Entering the ring on the short end of the betting odds of 7 to 5, Scott blocked and bottled up Campolo's one damaging weapon—a long right to the heart—and piled up enough points to gain the verdict.

A crowd of almost 20,000 paid $45,674.22 to see the big, blue-eyed Englishman prove that Campolo is nothing more than a strong, rugged youngster in need of more ring experience.

Although the decision was popular with the crowd, it was not unanimous. Referee Arthur Donovan voted for Campolo and the two judges, Charles F. Mathison and Harold Barnes, voted for Scott.

The United Press score gave Scott five rounds, Campolo three and called two even.

Scott's experience and superb defense won for him. After the first round, Campolo was completely at sea with the exception of the sixth and seventh rounds when he rallied and scored effectively with rights to the body.

During the rest of the fight Scott tied up Campolo in clinches, blocked his long right leads and discouraged him with stinging hooks and jabs to the head.

Scott landed the most damaging blow of the contest—a terrific right to the head in the final round, which made Campolo's knees bend under him.

Scott came near being disqualified in the ninth round when Referee Donovan halted the battle momentarily to warn the Englishman for pushing Campolo in the face with his open glove. Scott was angered because his opponent had hit him in the eye, half-blinding him for a second.

Jimmy Johnston, Scott's manager, announced today he planned to challenge the winner of the Sharkey-Loughran match, which goes on Sept. 26.

Campolo probably will return to Argentine for a short vacation if he is unsuccessful in getting a return match with Scott.

New York, Sept. 24.—(U.P.)—Sam Hildreth, dean of American thoroughbred trainers, died at 7:50 a. m. today at the Fifth Avenue hospital, where he had been in a critical condition after an abdominal operation.

Hildreth was 68 years old. He had been director of the Rancocas racing stable and breeding farm of Harry F. Sinclair and continued his training activities until last August.

Season tickets for the three home football games of the Brainerd high school went on sale today at one dollar.

The first game will be played Friday afternoon in place of Saturday as had previously been arranged. The second game will be with Park Rapids on Saturday, November 2, and the third with Crosby-Ironton on Armistice Day, Monday, November 11.

The game Friday will start at the Municipal Field at 3:30 P. M. and should be a very close and exciting battle. Wadena is reported to have a fast, stocky team. The gridgers have always given a good account of themselves in football competition. It goes without saying that the Brainerd even will put forth every effort to stop them.

Regarding expenses to the home management in booking games, Supt. W. C. Cobb made the following statement today:

"It is hoped that in the absence of an enclosed ground football patrons in Brainerd will respond in the purchase of season tickets for the three home games at one dollar or fifty cents a single admission. It costs the home management $75 in each game to bring a team to Brainerd and unless the advance sale of tickets is reasonable it will be very difficult without an enclosed ground to meet expenses. If football patrons in Brainerd really want as many home games played here as possible they should show their interest by a willingness to purchase a season ticket."

MILLER HUGGINS, CRITICALLY ILL, LIVES THROUGH NIGHT

New York, Sept. 24.—(U.P.)—Miller Huggins, plucky little manager of the New York Yankees, lived through the night despite grave fears for his life, but his condition was still critical early today.

At 7 a. m. it was said at St. Vincent's hospital that Huggins had spent a "fairly good night" and was "not any worse."

The pilot of the world champions was battling against influenza and erysipelas. Huggins' chances were believed to be slim. A physician's bulletin last night described the little manager's condition as "critical," following two blood transfusions.

New York, Sept. 24.—(U.P.)—A fourth blood transfusion was decided upon today in an attempt to save the life of Miller Huggins, manager of the New York Yankees.

Huggins' condition was reported as unchanged—and the last report said he still was critically ill—and one of the nurses at the hospital told the United Press:

"The next 24 hours will tell the story."

Huggins was able to take some nourishment today, which is a hopeful sign, but his temperature remained close to 104 degrees. He had a fairly comfortable night.

STUDENT OFFICERS TO BE EMPOWERED

American Legion Sponsors Plan for City Wide Protection to Children

PRINCIPALS SELECT OFFICERS

Will Take Oaths as Traffic Officers With Power to Make Arrest

A friendly tip to motorists. Obey the bright looking youngster who displays a sign reading "Stop, by School Police." Otherwise the motorist may find himself presented with a traffic law infraction ticket which is just as valid as had a blue coat of the City Police Department given it.

Officials of the Carl Sidney Hanson Post, American Legion, planned today a speaking tour of five grade schools in Brainerd to result in the formation of a city wide school police department for the protection of school children in crossing streets.

The committee selected, George Berkholder, E. G. Roth, Al Veillette, Melvin Bredenberg, A. M. Mraz, and Art Hagberg, plan to visit the Harrison, Lowell, Lincoln, Whittier and St. Francis schools one morning this week and outline their plan, approved by the Brainerd Police Department.

Principals of the schools will select on the basis of merit a patrolman and captain for each school with a chief for the organization. Acting in an advisory capacity will be a city police officer.

The school traffic officers will receive badges of authority and will be empowered with making arrests. It will be their duty to see that the children attending their school cross the streets in front of their school safely. They will cause to be formed a line of students, will then display their "stop" sign and permit the children to cross the street. The plan has proved successful in all towns and cities where it has been instituted.

INTEREST AT PITCH IN CHORAL CONTEST

All Eyes of State Sing Organizations to be Turned to Contest Thursday

BRAINERD CLUB ENTERS

Will Compete With Other Clubs at Federated Women's Clubs Convention

State sing organizations will watch with interest the results of the state choral contest to be held Thursday evening at Minneapolis in connection with the state convention of Federated Women's clubs, and particularly will they be alert to what the Brainerd Choral club will do this year.

So fine a record at district and state meets has the local organization attained that state wide attention has been turned to these women of extraordinary voice.

The Choral club will leave this city Thursday morning, will rest a few hours in Minneapolis and then compete with leading Choral clubs throughout the state in the contest at the Central Lutheran church in the evening.

Three numbers will be presented by each club. Two will be required, one "A Brown Bird Singing" by Haydn Wood and the other an A Cappella, "In the Time of Roses," composition by Reichardt. Each club will then render the selection of their choice. Brainerd will select "The Lorelei" by Liszt.

The Brainerd Choral club found it impossible last year to compete in the state meet after winning the district at Wadena but the year previous the club was successful at the district and was adjudged the best at the state meet at Crookston. They were awarded the state cup that year.

Comprising the personnel of the singers of the club are the following: sopranos, Mesdames James Alderman, Ray Hall, A. W. Moulster; second sopranos, Mrs. Harry Paine, Misses Emily Mraz, Alma Brown, Jennie Beck; altos, Mesdames C. W. Mahlum, Ethel Fox, Art Fredstrom and Miss Dorothy Carmichael; director, Miss Effie Drexler; accompanist, Mrs. Louis Knudsen.

The Choral club is sponsored by the Brainerd Musical club of which Mrs. E. J. Quinn is president.

Delegates to the convention of the Minnesota Federation of Women's clubs will be Mrs. C. M. Patek and Mrs. L. F. Hawkinson. Other ladies who plan to attend include, Mrs. J. A. Thabes, Sr., Mrs. J. J. Cummins, Mrs. A. C. Weber, Mrs. Carl Zapffe.

Minneapolis, Sept. 24. — (U.P.) — Public health, child welfare, wild life conservation and public schools were the subjects scheduled for discussion here today at the 35th annual convention of the Minnesota Federation of Women's clubs, which opened here today.

Today was given over to meetings of advisory and executive boards and to the presenting of committee reports. Frank B. Kellogg of St. Paul, former secretary of state, was to be the chief speaker at the night session.

The convention will continue through Friday.

Revival Services

Evangelist V. R. Jackson brought a message at the Full Gospel Assembly last night on "Water Baptism." He stated that baptism was a command of the Lord Jesus and should be carried out but that repentance should have first place in our lives. He chose his text from Math. 3:13, 17.

There will be another divine healing service tonight and the sick will be prayed for. Several have testified that they have been wonderfully helped through prayer during these services. All sick folk or those that are afflicted in any way are invited to come.

Leaders to Impart Knowledge Gained to 4H Clubs, Farm Dairy Units, P. T. A.'s, Etc.

How to make a curtsy, how to apply makeup, how to go about the intricate business of producing a play and the thousand and one things connected with backstage life—these are being explained by a competent play producer and director, Jack Stuart Knapp of the National Playgrounds Association of New York to more than 25 men and women, mostly women, from various parts of the county, in a four-day school which closes Thursday.

The school was arranged through County Agent E. G. Roth, the object being to teach rural leaders for 4H clubs, Farm Dairy Units, P. T. A.'s, in rural activities how to stage plays, stunts, programs and amateur dramatics of various kinds.

Crow Wing county is fortunate in securing the school in that this county was selected as among the three to receive such benefits as Mr. Knapp's time permits but a two weeks' concentration in the work for each state. Mr. Knapp and his charming wife who also is familiar with stage work are in Brainerd this week on their transcontinental tour. The school is being held in the Farmers' Room of the court house. Discussion on the various phases of the work is done in an informal way.

Mr. Knapp explained that poise, patience and perseverance are essential qualities in a director. A producing staff should have a personnel of a director, stage manager and directors for lighting, scenic, costumes, property, makeup, publicity and music.

Mr. and Mrs. Emmons Ohm, Bernard Mraz, Ray Pratt, Earl DeRocher, Milton Bergstrand and the Misses Mary Jane Thompson, Dorothy Harrison, Lena Gravelle, and Mardelle Mraz held a wiener roast at Gilbert Lake last evening.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.

Eddie Regan, once a member of a New York gang, has escaped to Virginia, where he meets and falls in love with Marian Thorn-dike. He forgets the "gang girl," Bernice Veressi, with whom he once fancied himself in love, in his dreams of Marian. Penfield Paradine, last member of an aristocratic Southern family, whom Eddie befriends, dies and leaves Eddie all his possessions. Eddie declares his love to Marian, but she discourages him and tells him she expects to marry Tom Freeman. Eddie goes to call on Marian, and Freeman, who is really there, tells Eddie to get off the premises. Freeman tries to eject him bodily and a fight starts. Marian stops the fight and tells Freeman to leave. Eddie decides to tell Marian of his past life and, amazed at the sincerity of his love, she urges him on to bigger things by telling him there is more to life than the love he has to offer.

Now Go On with the Story

CHAPTER XXV.
HE KNEW all too well. She was recognizing impulses that the men and girls of his past knew all about. They had names and terms for such things that her ears had never heard. After all, despite her fineness and intelligence, she was childlike in her lack of experience.

"I get you," he said. "When you are all steamed up, I'm the right fellow—but outside of that I'm a frost." He even managed a wry smile. "Just a great lover and that's all," he added, with rude humor.

"I'm not trying to hurt you," she explained, "but I couldn't love a man unless he made me look up to him; he would have to stand for something definite. He would at least have to be ambitious." Eddie declared, "Maybe I am not capable of doing big things—but I'd like to."

To answer him meant to wither him, but Marian, now, did not spare the lash. "What ambition have you? What big things do you hope to do? You needn't answer me—I know the only ambition you have is to possess yourself of a girl you happen to want. The only thing you bring to love is just the mating instinct and even the animals have that. Before I could love a man he would have to have all that and give evidence of something more, something fine. Don't you see, Eddie—it's all so terribly important for us to go on?"

Marian's analysis of the impossibility of love—they were both thinking of marriage—between them deprived Eddie of all his triumphant feelings. He was beaten, bruised—by words. Against the unanswerable logic of her position it seemed mere empty bragging to offer the dry husks of his ambition. Hers was a nature that required something substantial and solid to build upon. And his future was as vague as the shadows cast by the moon-lit trees on the lawn before them.

It was no use telling her that he hoped to marry her, not her family. For him it was impossible to measure love against material achievement—to measure it up against worldly success. He had no right to leap to his almost vagabond conception. She was a woman and her ideals about men were vastly higher than his own.

"I don't know what I can say to convince you of anything," Eddie told her. "I am ambitious—I work harder than any man in this county."

"What kind of work?"

He had to confess that his labors were chiefly concerned with cutting cordwood.

"You're doing the same thing any uneducated colored man could do and probably do better," she told him. "You could chop trees the rest of your life and still never raise yourself above the level of a common laborer. Don't you see that, Eddie?"

"What do you think I ought to do?"

"Nobody has the right to tell you what you should do. The world is filled up with a thousand tasks waiting to be done—calling for a man's best effort. How can I advise you? You work with your body, your muscle, and totally neglect to develop or use your mind. No, I could never look up to you, Eddie, with honest respect if you didn't rank yourself higher than that. I'd always be comparing you with other men and apologizing for you to myself. You wouldn't want that, would you?"

What she said seemed to be true; yet in his heart he knew that she was somewhere in error. He knew, also, that he was unable to answer her. All things on earth might be subject to logic and opinions—but not love. Love must be the supreme force in life—single handed it was stronger than all possible arguments that beat upon it. But he could not command the words to give the ring of truth to his voice.

"Do you understand what I mean?" she asked him, with unhappy kindness. "I get you."

"Then you must see we can't go on this way."

Marian thought it was the end—but he knew that it was not. Although he rose to leave, the vital urge for her in his breast told him there would be no extinguishing of the flame so long as he lived. Love was endless, as eternal as the air they breathed all around them.

"But this doesn't mean we can't be friends," she spoke in a low voice and with deliberation. "We've both got to be sane enough to save ourselves from future heartaches."

She was pale and unhappy, but he sensed a courageous decision in her. What she didn't understand was that he could wait eternally. Again the consuming desire to draw her into his arms almost overpowered him. Their hands touched with firm clasp at parting and, subsequently, he exerted a pressure that would have pulled her close to him had she not resisted. She smiled a little and shook her head.

"No, Eddie, we mustn't."

When he was home he found himself sitting on the side of his bed and staring at the wall like a man in a daze. He had come to the end, definitely, of one phase in his relationship with Marian Thorn-dike. A line of conduct they had both followed was now blocked. A new start would have to be made. He was consumed with curiosity about the future.

The things she had said to him had seemed true enough—but where was he to begin? In his mind he reviewed men and their occupations. He knew lawyers but they were crooks. He couldn't be a doctor—that would take years of study and a lot of money. Business men—they were only interested in grabbing money. Reducing what she had said down to practical terms, it hadn't meant a thing on earth. He went back to his timber cutting, seeing nobody but Tobe and sleeping like a dog from over-exhaustion at night.

Then, one day, he awoke to find his very soul in utter revolt against the protracted toil. The last ounce of random, nervous energy had burned out of him and when he went to the woods, the trees pressed in around him in a circle like the bars of a cell. He threw down his axe and returned to the house.

When he returned downstairs from his bedroom, Tobe was astonished to find him dressed in his one good suit of clothes and wearing a white shirt and collar.

"Hit up the horse and drive me to the railroad station," he told the old negro. "I'm going away for a few days. But, first, how much money can we rake together?"

Eddie was surprised to find that, counting the money he had brought from the city, they had nearly two hundred dollars, the larger part of which had come from the sale of the farm's by-products.

"Where you going, sub—when kin I look for you back?"

"I'm going some place to a city, Eddie said, speaking like an absent minded man. "You can look for me back when you see me."

It was a tiresome, dusty ride to Richmond, and when he alighted from the train he was surprised to find that a kind of country, smidely made him vaguely shy of the city. He walked downtown and when he crossed the street, he found that he was so unused to traffic that he almost jumped to a curb to avoid an automobile. All of the old insouciance of the New York street gamin had dropped away from him and there was a slight bewilderment in his brain. This, though, passed quickly and before long he was conscious that Richmond was, after all, really nothing more than a small town compared with New York. Still, there were plenty of people around and they had the indefinable stamp of the city over them. They were not his kind of people but there was a distant kinship between them and New Yorkers that was faintly agreeable.

What he wanted was a dose of his own kind of civilization. Richmond in a diluted, homeopathic way might supply the medicine that would enable him to get his mind out of his rut—to stimulate some fertile thought force.

Anew, the old intuitiveness of sensation began to strain in his breast. Peculiarly—almost, clairvoyantly—he knew he was going to get a kick out of this.

New Door needed on the Back Porch

The Back Door looks a little neglected, doesn't it? For one thing, the screening has rusted and fallen away in spots. Doesn't keep the flies out. And the delivery boys and the ice man have soiled the woodwork. It does look messy. It isn't much of a job to put in new netting and to paint the main door and the frame of the other. Let's get busy. What do you say?

VALUE

beyond expectation

No matter how high your expectations, prepare for a surprise when you see the new Dodge Six Two-Door Sedan. It is a full 5-passenger model—extra-spacious, extra-comfortable—with liberal head-room, leg-room and elbow-room. It has the usual long list of Dodge Six engineering advancements, including weatherproof internal-expanding 4-wheel hydraulic brakes, 8-bearing rear axle and 7-bearing crankshaft. There is an unusual appeal in its smart, distinctive style. Yet its price is lower than that of any other Dodge Brothers Six model.
